Positive Behavior Supports

It is crucial that students’ positive behaviors are celebrated and recognized. These supports include preventative and responsive approaches that are implemented with all students in the classroom and intensified to support small groups or individual students as needed. The following strategies and techniques are utilized throughout the school year:

Classroom Behavior Systems: Teachers utilize a reward system(s) of their preference for individual, group, and class behavior. For individual behavior, teachers use Class Dojo, sticker charts, ticket systems and other techniques. Teachers use positive behavior strategies to reward cooperative partner and group work such as “table tallies” or “B.U.G.S”. Additionally, teachers use whole class rewards such as marble jars, learning stones, and catching compliments to support whole class positive behavior.

School Wide Incentives: School wide incentives also take place to acknowledge behaviors in a positive way. Examples include, but are not limited to: Class of the Week, “Caught Being Kind” Awards, School Wide Words of Wisdom, Attendance Awards, Random Acts of Kindness and other School Wide Incentive Projects.

Principal Read Alouds and Story Sharing: Each marking period, the school principal visits classrooms to share a positive message and story. This continues to reinforce a positive culture and shared climate for making smart choices essential for learning and character development.

Pillars of Character: Character Education has a prominent role in the lives of young children. Through our district students engage in a multitude of activities to promote acts of kindness, good citizenship and tasks that develop skills and strategies to become good problem solvers. All students will recognize the worth, quality, and importance of themselves, other people and their community.

It is our belief that teaching behavioral expectations and rewarding students for following them is a much more positive approach than waiting for misbehavior to occur before responding. The aforementioned examples of positive behavior supports assist us in establishing a climate in which appropriate behavior is the norm.
